Under the banner thus in- etc. Address. scribed it will, with the spirit of '61, resist repudiation, flatism, sectional aggression, shotgun rule, conspiracies against the integrity of the ballot-box, and disloyal ascendency in all its forms. In this important battle Republicanism must rely upon the press for the most efficient service to its cause, and there is no more certain way to "organize victory" than by insuring the circulation among the voters, now insuring the circulation among the voters, now and constantly, of a sound political litertature.

THE DETROIT POST AND TRIBUNE has an Republican journal, which has for years upheld the causes of genumely free institutions and of rational finace. It is also a thorough newspaper, perfectly equipped and complete in all departments, with large resources, a great and growing circulation, and a system of newsgathering which covers the entire field, local, state, general and foreign. No paper has equaled it in rapid growth in the public confidence. Its weekly is the largest published in the state. and does not yield to any rival in interest and in value to its readers.

During 1880 its news will be kept fresh and accurate, commercial reports full and trust- F worthy, its miscellaneous selections abundant and entertaining, lits tone pure and elevating, and its Republicanism sound and vigorous. New features will be constantly added, and those which have alredy been established will be enlarged and improved. Care will be exer- where. cised to see that all Michigan interests are properly upheld, and especial pains will be taken to make its Agricultural Department and the Letter-box of constant practical use to its patrons. It has recieved the testimony of bundreds of its readers that these Departments alone have saved to them anonally far more than its subscription price.
